

Hi sweet families!

Welcome to Honey & The Word — a cozy little corner made just for little hearts and big truths! We're so glad you're here. Whether you're joining us for a craft, a Bible story, or just a moment of joy with your little one, we pray this space brings the warmth of Jesus to your day.

Our mission is simple:

To share the sweet truth of God's Word in a way young children can understand, enjoy, and remember.

Through hands-on crafts, playful learning, and gentle truths from the Bible, we aim to plant seeds of faith in the tiniest hearts — because little ones matter greatly in God's Kingdom.

We're honored to be part of your child's journey to know and love Jesus. Thank you for allowing us into your home and hearts!

About Me:

I'm a homeschool mom, a former preschool teacher (yet, still one at heart!), and most importantly — a follower of Jesus.

I started Honey & The Word because I believe big truths can be taught to even the littlest hearts. I've always loved teaching children and watching their eyes light up when they discover something new — especially when it's about God's love.

At home, I spend most of my time homeschooling, creating fun crafts, learning through play with my own children, and thinking of ways to make Bible time exciting for kids like yours.

Whether you're a parent, grandparent, teacher, or just someone who loves kids — I'm so glad you're here. My heart is for every child who joins us to feel loved, seen, and deeply known by God.

Let's grow together in faith, one sweet step at a time. 🌸

With love,

Emily 🧡
